PSC

PSC - is the sum of the coefficients of the three main life resources of a person: mind, body, feelings

PSC - What is your Personal Source Code? To answer this question, let's look at each of its components

PSC:

IQ intelligence

VQ volition

EQ will

PSCC

IQ

intelligence quotient

This is the area of ideas, innovations, insights, cognitive flexibility and out-of-the-box thinking emotional-intuitive intelligence

EQ

It's responsible for the ability to distinguish and transform its own feelings and the feelings of other people. And at the apogee of its development, it provides us with powerful intuition coefficient of vital energy

VQ

This is the will, discipline, the ability to fulfill the promise and embody what was intended. Each of these factors should be considered in more detail

THREE LEVELS OF Personal Source Code:

Each of the potentials

IQ

EQ

VQ

has three levels of efficiency:
low, medium and high.

Let's give them a description

IQ

levels

The low level

The low IQ is characterized by a set of standard thoughts and opinions about yourself, about objects and phenomena that surround a person, about world politics and economics. This is a stereotypical form of thinking, which is the simplest reaction to external circumstances or internal experiences. As a rule, in business, ordinary employees, managers or salespeople have this level, they live from paycheck to paycheck, they aren't interested in anything, they think in a standard way and don't hope for anything in life.

The medium level

The medium level implies the presence of individual thinking, such people have a natural talent to deeply perceive other people's thoughts and accurately express their own thoughts. In the business sphere, this corresponds to the level of a top manager who is able to solve complex problems, analyze and optimize business processes. This top manager has a high ability to learn, plan effectively, and create conditions for a promising partnership. These are the Atlanteans who hold the economy on their shoulders, because their type of thinking can be applied in various spheres, including public administration.

The high level

The high level - we call such people geniuses. The highest IQ skills are a free form of perception, expression and thought generation that extends beyond patterns and individuality. At this level of thinking, even the upgrade of the person's intellect system takes place constantly and without outside help. It is like a self-improving mechanism that has no limits. In the business sphere, these are Personalities with a capital letter. They have such characteristics: large-scale vision, forecasting, foresight, long-term planning, diversification of capital, a clear vision of strategy and tactics (including in negotiations). They are able to create absolutely unique businesses. Such geniuses want to get all the largest corporations in the world.

EQ

levels

The low level

The low EQ is an uncontrollable emotional reaction to the situation, environment, and the person's own actions. As a result, such a person becomes a slave to the negative emotions, such as: envy, resentment, melancholy, sorrow, sadness, self-pity, fear, self-abasement.

The medium level

The medium EQ level is an extended range of emotions that complement each other, but they are often contradictory. For example, when you feel resentment and gratitude at the same time. Or, at the same time, you are angry but happy. Envy, but admire. A wider range of experiencing emotions allows you to choose exactly the emotional reaction that will be most constructive and effective at this moment in life. In business, this type of personality is rightfully called the "soul of the company". A person is able to harmonize the surrounding atmosphere (including negotiations), he manages to read the emotional background of other people, intuitively choose reliable employees and partners, inspire, create and maintain a social connection. He has a high stress resistance and self-control in crisis situations. He is also able to create a corporate culture that allows all employees to develop.

The high level

The high level of EQ is the ability to transform emotions into energy in order to achieve the goals that have been set. This level of EQ allows you to feel refined emotions and high aesthetic experiences. A leader who possesses these qualities is able to create the right emotional atmosphere as easily as we change the temperature in a room with an air conditioner remote control. He is able to make right intuitive decisions in conditions of uncertainty, has flexibility in achieving goals, and the ability to take risks. He is very skilled in crisis management, is able to control the development of conflicts, can create an atmosphere for long-term cooperation and manage the communication field of the organization.

VQ

levels

The low level

The low level of VQ is manifested through conformism, apathy, passivity and lack of initiative. People with this level of personal effectiveness are characterized by doughface, inability to defend their own interests, and they do not have their own position. In other words, these people are the followers. Such people often simply remain silent, waiting for instructions. But if they are given clear instructions, they complete the tasks and wait for the next instructions. But if the instructions aren't clear enough, they just do nothing. Most often they are specialists of a certain position, typical performers.

The medium level

The medium level of VQ is characterized by such a quality as the Will. This level is characterized by the ability to fulfill given promises, plan and act according to the approved scheme. A person with this level of VQ is hardworking, persistent, purposeful, he/she can harmoniously fit into the team. This person moves up through the ranks calmly and confidently and achieves the goals that he/she set for him-/herself. Such person is already a leader, but still has room to grow.

The high level

The high level of VQ is present in people who have charisma and powerful leadership qualities. Such a person always has his/her own opinion, an individual view of things and has the courage to express him-/herself. They are able to inspire, unite and lead people. These people are excellent motivators and have unconditional authority. But, at the same time, they often have a complex character, they are uncompromising in their deeds and words. In the business sphere, this level corresponds to a person of the "Charismatic personality" type.

AND GOAL

P

When your PSC exceeds the level of the goal, it means that you are determining your location not correctly. And you are much closer to the goal than you think. This means that it is necessary to accurately determine your coordinates and build a new route

S

The main thing to remember is that your personal indicators are not a constant and not a final verdict. You can change yourself, improve yourself, and increase your potential. But for this it is necessary to clearly understand what needs to be changed and why

C

When your PSC doesn't reach the level of the goal, you need to increase the PSC and create a new model of yourself. Changing the original coordinates and building a new route is a short and easy way
